5 Step Christmas Marketing Survival Guide

Whether you're someone who puts up decorations on November 1st each year, or pretends that Christmas shopping is unnecessary until December 24th at 8pm, there's no avoiding it: the festive season is a great revenue opportunity for businesses. Our five-step marketing guide shows you exactly how to get through Christmas and keep your sanity.

1. Embrace the Decor

You might not want to decorate your premises for Christmas, but it will make your customers more receptive to buying your products.

Fun and festive posters are a great way to attract buyers to your promotions. Use them to draw people in by placing in a window, or highlight particularly great offers in-store.

2. Choose Music

For anyone who has ever worked in retail, Christmas songs give you a nervous twitch. We're here to tell you – it's okay, you don't have to have Christmas music.

Instead of the same old Christmas music playing in the background, lure customers into your shop with some promotional flyers instead!

3. Send Cards

There's something exciting about receiving a card. Create your own design that customers will want to put on the mantelpiece and your brand will be in their hearts and homes until New Year.

You can always add an incentive, like £5 off with a code, to spice your season's greetings up!

4. Think Ahead

It's not just Christmas on the horizon, the New Year will be here soon. Make sure to gear up for the January sales too!

Prepare your customers for the biggest sale of the year by encouraging them to buy their Christmas gifts with you – in return for a voucher they'll get to spend in January.

5. Prepare Your New Year Giveaways

Sending personalised gifts to customers, clients, employees and even friends and family is the perfect way to show how much you care. Print allows you to create something thoughtful and unique without going over your budget, allowing you to show your appreciation for their support over the past year.

How to Make the Most of January Sales

After the Christmas rush, you're ready for a break. But not quite yet! It's January sales time: a great opportunity to boost additional revenue. Did you know that it's also the time of year to set the precedent for your annual revenue?

There are plenty of ways to use the January sales to boost footfall and increase monthly revenue throughout the year – here are just a few...

Promote January Sales

Start advertising your January sales near the end of December – put up posters, set stacks of flyers up on the counter and hang up waterproof PVC banners outside the store.

Run Valentine's Offers (In January)

A countdown to Valentine's Day is the perfect way to link all your promotions together. Advertise your upcoming special offers using strut cards and posters.

Start a Customer Loyalty Scheme

Take advantage of all the extra shoppers in January with loyalty cards to encourage repeat business.

Take Advantage of Supplier Sales

Remember to boost your revenue by making savings! Stock up on essentials you'll need year-round and make the most of your budget. waterproof PVC banners outside the store.

Get Set For 2020 with Print

It's easy to get blinded by the bright lights of Christmas, but as soon as the clock strikes midnight on New Year's Eve, you're into January and 2020 will begin. Make sure you don't get caught out by planning your marketing for the January sales and beyond well in advance. Here are the top print essentials you'll need to prepare yourself for the New Year.

Calendar Design Tip

You can choose to print either a single sided or a double sided calendar.

Single Sided (13pp)

Our calendars are annual (12 months), so if you choose a single sided calendar, you'll design 13 pages – 12 pages printed on one side only (one per month) and a front cover.

Double Sided (14pp)

Double sided calendars are 7 pages printed front and back to make 14 sides (a front cover with a yearly view on the back and then a side for each month).
